Rockshox Monarch Rt3 Setup

Featuring silky smooth travel in a new lightweight design, Monarch floats through bumps even better than before, turning rugged trails into tire-gripping velvet. The chassis is lean while maintaining the durability and adjustability needed to bite off huge chunks of burly trail action and epic cross country.

How do you improve on the success of a rear shock that has received critical acclaim for its stellar performance and supple feel? It's simple. You rewrite the rules, throw existing design constraints out the window and focus solely on the best possible performance solution. We took the proven damping performance of our popular Monarch series and introduced it to our new

The Specialized Stumpjumper Comp Carbon 29 is a capable and effective mid-travel trail bike. This bike has the skills and capability to tackle a wide range of terrain but lacks personality, comfort, or a lively feel. This 135mm travel 29er climbs effectively and can stand up to nasty terrain on the descent but the ride is jarring and fairly unexciting.

Deadwood GX Eagle is our 29+ full-suspension trail bike. The SRAM GX Eagle drivetrain will make short work of climbs, while the RockShox Pike 120mm fork and plus tires will roll over just about anything - whether you're racing or connecting turns on your local singletrack, Deadwood has you covered.

The annual drool-on-carbon show that is the Bible of Bike Tests is soon to launch, and with it, several dozen reviews of bikes most of us will never be able to afford. The good news: Most of the models reviewed in the Bible are offered in lower-end, more reasonably-priced builds that perform similarly to the dentist-spec versions we tested. You'll find a few of those here, plus some models ...
